SPECIALISATION

CHIROPRACTIC BIOPHYSICS

Chiropractic BioPhysics (CBP) is a technique that focuses on the structural rehabilitation of the spine. The aim of CBP is to restore an individual's spine and posture to a healthy state called the Ideal Spine. This reduces the stress on the body protecting an individual from pain and arthritis. Dr Adrian is also a certified instructor to chiropractors in CBP.

SPINAL ORTHOTICS

Dr Adrian has also developed rehabilitative spinal orthotic devices known as Dennerolls. These devices are now strongly endorsed by CBP and have become the leading spinal orthotic in the world. This endorsement is also supported by the latest in scientific and medical rehabilitative research.

MEET DR ADRIAN

Since graduating as a Chiropractor in 2004, Dr Adrian has taken tremendous enjoyment in helping many different people of all ages with their health and goals through chiropractic care.

From early childhood, Dr Adrian enjoyed competitive sports and an active lifestyle and continues to do so. He has always had a passion for health, the human body, and its function.

He loves helping people reach their potential and understands the role that chiropractic plays in maximising people's health.

After working with patients on their initial health goals, Dr Adrian likes to inspire them to make better health decisions, and have a better understanding of their spine and how it impacts their overall health and wellbeing.

Adrian and Dr Darren met several years ago while they were completing post graduate education in Chiropractic Biophysics (CBP). Both are passionate about applying the science of CBP to improve the health of their patients.

After working in Potts Points for over 12 years, Dr Adrian is excited for a new beginning with North Shore Family Chiropractors, and looks forward to serving the community in every way he can.
